

Dear visitors, please respect the special character of this place.

The Memorial Gardens were established in as a living memorial to Baron Edmond de Rothschild and his legacy. Ramat Hanadiv invests great effort in planning and tending the gardens. We invite you to share the pleasure of visiting them and request your cooperation in protecting them for future visitors.

Before entering the gates of the Memorial Gardens, please leave these behind:

- Pets
- Food
- Cigarettes
- Playing balls
- Bicycles
- Skates and scooters

A visit to the Memorial Gardens is an experience of beauty and relaxation. Take a break from the clatter of everyday life, silence your cell phones, and put aside your problems. Engage your senses and indulge yourself in some moments of rarefied tranquility.

The magnificent plant life here, in all its diversity -- flowers, trees, and lawns -- is for your enjoyment, but only through sight and scent. Please stay on the paths as you walk.

Adjacent to the secondary car park is a picnic area which you are welcome to use before or after your visit to the Memorial Gardens. Lighting a match or fire is absolutely forbidden every where else at Ramat Hanadiv.
